

Irrigation Micro-Credentials Development

After engagement with industry, an opportunity was identified to create standalone micro-credentials to support the irrigation industry, specifically the installation and verification of full pipe water measurement systems. These micro-credentials will allow companies to gain accreditation to work in the water measurement space.

The process to complete this mahi is outlined below.

