

New Zealand Diploma in Primary Industry Business Management

Qualification Development Project

Help us to shape the direction of the New Zealand Diploma in Primary Industry Business Management to support New Zealand's unique food and fibre business potential.

About the project

The New Zealand Diploma in Primary Industry Business Management (Level 5) offers an important opportunity for ākonga (learners) who want to take their industry experience and pair it with solid business management skills and knowledge for the benefit of their business, their industry and their people.

We are seeking to build relationships and have conversations with primary industry business owners and managers to ensure that this Diploma provides a positive and inclusive pathway for ākonga to move into management and leadership positions in all the food and fibre industries. We need your help to shape this qualification to best serve your industry's future.

How you can contribute

You can have a direct impact on the shape of this qualification by joining an advisory group. The groups will meet monthly for approximately six months. Alternatively, you can share information to support the project by speaking with the project team.
